The Smoke Signals Community has been active for a while, now – we've been able to spend some time assessing and reassessing things – and we've taken your feedback into account as well. We're happy to hear your comments at any time, of course. But based on the experience and comments, we'll be making some changes to the Community later this month – and if you have anything you want to toss into the mix, please do so right away; just email us at smokesigs@aol.com .

Thanks 🍷
